Candidate Name : Abobaker Magdi Abdalwahab	Total Score : 644
Candidate ID : 19001424650	Exam Date : February 4, 2020

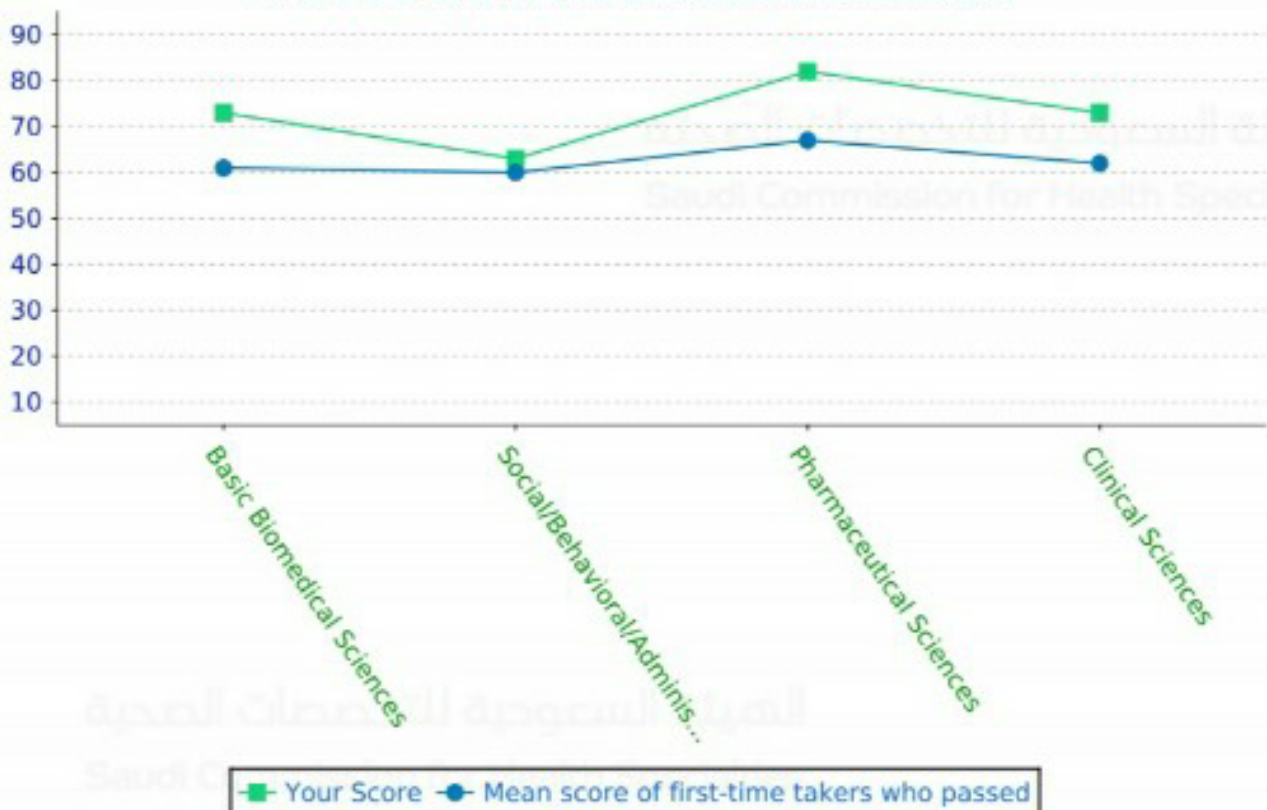

The purpose of this report is to provide you with supplemental information on your relative strengths and weaknesses, based on your performance across the different domains that were assessed by the test that was administered to you.

Each domain is sampled a number of times, with some being measured by a large number of questions and others by a relatively smaller number of questions.

To help you better understand your performance, your sub-score for each domain is shown along with the mean score of candidates who passed and were first-time test

It is important to note that the sub-scores are based on significantly less data than the total score and that these do not have the same level of precision as the total score. If you have failed the examination and wish to retake it, preparation for all domains is important; otherwise you could improve some sub-scores and inadvertently lower
